

Santa Fe Science Café For Young Thinkers

“Edible Food for a Sustainable Lifestyle”

Deborah Madison
Acclaimed Chef and Author

Tuesday, March 10
6 – 7:30 PM

Georgia O’Keeffe Museum Education Annex
123 Grant Avenue, Santa Fe

Good food, pleasurable eating, healthy bodies and sustainable farming are all connected to one another, which means our food choices are significant and important! Come take a closer look at food and farming from such perspectives as local versus long-distance foods; the possibilities of a vegetarian approach as well as the omnivore’s diet; issues around farming, ranching, health and carbon footprints; plus the elements that make food good and meals a pleasure to be shared with others.

The Café is sponsored by the Santa Fe Alliance for Science, the Santa Fe Institute, the Santa Fe Public Schools, the Georgia O’Keeffe Museum and the New Mexico Public Education Department.

Admission is Free. Youth (ages 13-19) seating a priority. Light refreshments will be served.

Deborah will also appear on The Santa Fe Radio Café with host Mary-Charlotte Domandi at 8:30 am on Tuesday, March 10, on KSFR 101.1 FM, streaming on the web live at <http://www.ksfr.org>.

Deborah Madison is a chef, cookbook writer, and advocate of local eating and a past manager of the Santa Fe farmers’ market.
